The East River Bridge.

NEW YORK, April 18.—(Special.)—[illegible] The day for the opening of the great bridge over East river has been set. The date is May [illegible] and the ceremonies will [illegible] Among the speakers will be Wm. M. Evarts and Rev. Dr. Storrs of Brooklyn. If the [illegible] is pleasant the ceremonies are likely to attract an immense assemblage. On the next day, Friday, the public will be allowed free use of the promenade.

The programme fixed upon is as follows: Invitations have been extended to the president and ex-president of the United States, to cabinet officers, members of both houses of congress, governors, lieut. governors and ex-governors of all the states and territories in the union, to the mayors and ex-mayors of New York and Brooklyn, and to the leading officials of both cities. Invitations will also be extended to representatives of foreign powers in this country, to distinguished foreigners, distinguished citizens and representatives of the press in all parts of the United States, to meet in the main building at the entrance to the bridge on the Brooklyn side at 2 o'clock P. M. Half an hour later the bridge will be formally presented to the mayors of New York and Brooklyn by President Kingsley of the bridge committee. Mayors Edson and Low will, it is presumed, make appropriate responses. After orations by Evarts and Storrs the guests will fall in line and walk across the bridge from the Brooklyn to the New York side.

The Brush Electric Light.

NEW YORK, April 18.—(Special.)—Evening Post: Officers of the Brush Incandescent Illuminating company announce that they are now ready to manufacture storage batteries at the rate of 70 a day, the works in Cleveland, Ohio, being finished. Brush says he has greatly improved his batteries since the exhibition of their power last autumn, and now has no hesitancy in competing with gas or any system of electric lighting. Contracts for lighting by this system have been made with numerous houses here, and batteries are promised within the next three weeks. Among other places is the Central National bank, and some of the others along Broadway, and Madison Square theater has been wired by the company. Suits will be instituted for the infringement of the Edison lamp patent and of the Faure storage battery patents. About every patent expert lawyer of prominence in the country is engaged upon one side or the other in the coming contest, which promises to be most important ever fought over patent rights.

Ben Butler at War with the Chairman of the Committee.

BOSTON, April 18.—(Special.)—At the close of the Tewksbury examination to-day Butler said this investigation would interest the entire country where there were institutions like that at Tewksbury, and it ought to go before it. Already it had aroused an animation in other states. He has never had a political thought in connection with it, but the opposing counsel took that narrow view of it, of which it was capable.

The chairman said the governor's remark that another five to four vote would hand this committee down as another committee was handed down to the country by its eight to nine vote, was highly improper, and he hoped no more political allusions would be made by any one of the counsel.

The governor said he had as little respect for the chairman's opinion as the latter had for his, and he had no respect whatever for the chairman's decisions.

Negotiating for a Railroad.

BOSTON, April 18.—The Transcript says Charles E. Perkins, president of the C. B. & Q. railroad, has been in conference most of the day with Fred L. Ames, representing the Hannibal and St. Joseph railroad. At one time word came that a purchase actually had been effected, and there probably has been some arranging of papers and some minor details. Though not officially announced, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy will guarantee all bonds of the Hannibal and St. Joe railroad company and purchase the preferred stock at par with its three per cent. debenture bonds and common stock at 42, the price paid John B. Duff with six per cent. interest since the date of the purchase. Payment for this will also be made in 5 per cent. bonds.

The Danger of Eating Preserved Fruits.

NEW YORK, April 18.—(Special.)—The Herald, in a lengthy account of the manufacture of cans for meat, fruit and vegetables, points out the dangers of poisoning from the existing process of soldering. It says a large proportion of the cans used in preserving fruit and vegetables are soldered on inside so that the lead in the solder comes in direct contact with the contents of the can. It is shown also that even in cans that are machine made and soldered on the outside the solder frequently comes in contact with the inside, and some of the flux used in soldering is composed of rosin and muriatic acid, and is also likely to get inside of the can.

Cable Road in Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, April 18.—(Special.)—A company has been formed under the name of the Brooklyn Cable railroad company to introduce the cable system of towing street cars in Brooklyn. It is proposed to build a line from the ferry, at the foot of Montague street, to the junction of that street with Court street. The capital is fixed at $200,000 and it has all been taken up. The system of towing will be the same as that in San Francisco.

Retires from the Hotel Business.

NEW YORK, April 18.—(Special.)—Manager Walton gives up the management of the St. James hotel May 1, and will be succeeded by W. N. Connor & Co. It is understood that Walton has been negotiating for the hotel Brunswick but without success, and he will renew his ventures upon the English turf this season, taking with him Girofle.

The License Question in Illinois.

CHICAGO, April 18.—Throughout Illinois yesterday 46 cities and towns voted upon the liquor question. In balloting for municipal officers seven declared for prohibition or anti license, 31 declared for license, and of the latter six were for high license; four towns ignored the saloon question and voted on straight political issues.

Northern Pacific Traffic.

ST. PAUL, April 8.—(Special.)—Passenger arrivals by the Northern Pacific for the week (six days) ending on the 13th inst., were 7997; departures same period 3066. [illegible] during the past week [illegible] of track between Helena and Bozeman [illegible] three and one-fourth miles on the Missoula division.

Suicide of a Sailor.

VICTORIA, April 17.—(Special.)—Just before the bark Tiber sailed for Iquique last night, one of her sailors jumped overboard and was undoubtedly drowned. He was one of the men brought from San Francisco by the Dakota, and had refused to do duty from the first.

Big Lumber Drive.

MCINDOES FALLS, Conn., April 18.—Special.—The largest lumber drive in the history of Connecticut arrived here and started for Hartford to-day. It contains 90,000,000 feet. One hundred and twenty-five days will be consumed in getting it down the river.

Annihilation the only Way to Secure Peace.

EL PASO, April 18.—The Times says, editorially, General Crook will have supreme command, and a vigorous campaign will be immediately commenced. Both the American and the Mexican officers believe annihilation only will make peace possible.

The Bucket Shop Bill Killed.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 18.—In the senate to-day the bucket shop bill, by which it was sought to compel the Chicago board of trade to furnish outside grain speculating rooms with market quotations, was killed.

Disgusting Testimony.

BOSTON, April 18.—(Special.)—At the Tewksbury examination, a former inmate gave some startling and disgusting testimony concerning the treatment of inmates.

Colfax's Lecture on Lincoln.

NEW YORK, April 18.—(Special.)—Schuyler Colfax will deliver his lecture on Abraham Lincoln this evening. General Grant will preside.

AN INTERESTING LETTER,

In which Frank Mordaunt, the Actor, Writes about Striped Pants and Spring Overcoats.

NEW YORK, April 18.—(Special.)—Application for alimony and counsel fees in the pending trial of the suit of Fannie Mordaunt against Frank Mordaunt, the actor, will be made to-morrow. Complainant states that on January 30, 1883, at the Grand Pacific hotel in Chicago, while plaintiff was severely ill from injuries which she received from her husband, defendant refused her attendance and abused her in the most violent manner. She further alleges that since December 1882 defendant has neglected to provide for the support of his wife and child. She has reason to believe that he owns real estate in Brooklyn valued at $20,000 and his personal estate is worth $[illegible]. In support of the allegation that she furnished defendant with money, letters from him are put in evidence, one of which was written about a year and a half ago, from Chicago, and is as follows:

My Darling.—The money came all O. K. I was tickled to death. How good you are. I shall go down and get a suit—coat and vest alike and pants of light color and striped. Won't that be all right? I am going to try and get some money out of the management to get a spring overcoat. Can get one for $11 or $12 that will look just as well as one that costs $25 or $30. I am afraid you are going to be disappointed in seeing me Sunday. I found out last night that we were not to go to Springfield on [illegible] day, so you see my baby, it will be impossible to come over as it will cost me a good deal. You won't feel bad if I don't come, will you, pet? Damn it, pet, I think I am getting in love with you again. Bye bye. Lots of love to my baby Fannie.

SUIT AGAINST A PUBLIC ADMINISTRATOR.

Gray's Defalcations Growing—Indian News from the Southwest—Disastrous Floods in Mexico.

CALIFORNIA.

Suit against the Public Administrator.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—The petitioner, Alice Blythe, claiming to be the widow of the late millionaire Thomas H. Blythe, has by her attorney, Henry K. Highton, brought suit against the public administrator, Philip A. Roach, and others, in which it is set forth that on the 9th inst. plaintiff was in lawful possession of a suite of rooms, the residence of her late husband, Thomas H. Blythe, in the building No. 17 Geary street; that in one of said rooms (20) was a desk which contained books, papers, jewels and other property belonging to the estate of her said husband; that on said day the defendants unlawfully entered said room No. 20 and took therefrom the personal property of said deceased husband contained in said desk, among other things three diamond studs, two carbuncle studs, four turquoise waist coat buttons, one triplex sapphire and diamond ring, one emerald and diamond shirt-collar stud and one opal and diamond shirt collar stud; that the aggregate value of the property was $500; that said property was seized and carried away without authority of law, with force and against the will of plaintiff, to her damage in the sum of $1000, for which damage is asked.

Gray's Deficiency Piling Up.

The deficiency of Ex-Secretary Gray of the board of harbor commissioners keeps on increasing. It now amounts to $64,000. Ex Wharfinger Quinn's defalcations are also rising. A peculiar transaction of Gray's has been unearthed by Expert Pattie, who has conducted the investigation. In verifying the credits of the United States barge office and of a firm renting a space on the dock for weighing purposes, it was found that the former had been credited with $120 and the latter with $15, neither of which sums had been paid. The parties had no receipts, and promptly liquidated the accounts. Gray accidentally robbed himself of $105. The new secretary of the harbor commissioners stated to-day that some important papers had disappeared from his office, and in the future no one would be permitted behind the railing.

Horses for Washington Territory.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—(Special.)—The steamer Walla Walla left for Victoria and way ports this afternoon, carrying a cargo of general merchandise and 22 horses, intended for Port Townsend, Seattle and New Tacoma. As she was pulling out into the stream she bumped into a schooner moored at the wharf. No damage resulted beyond the breaking of the line which held the schooner to the wharf.

The Old Pacific Stock Exchange Sold.

The property of the Pacific stock exchange, on Montgomery street, has been sold to Henry White of Baltimore, Md. The building was originally known as the Eureka Minstrel hall, and for a long time was occupied by Billy Birch, Charley Backus, Ben Cotton, Dave Wambold and other members of the San Francisco minstrel troupe. It was subsequently used as a museum and afterwards became a stock exchange.

A Million Dollar Estate.

Lucy H. Tichnor, widow of H. B. Tichnor, the deceased millionaire, has petitioned for the probate of his will, by which property valued at $1,000,000 is conferred. The property is left entirely to the widow, who is made executrix without bonds. The estate consists of various interests in different localities throughout the state. The deceased left no heirs-at-law except the widow.

ARIZONA.

Latest Indian News.

TUCSON, April 18.—(Special.)—A special to the Star from Calabasas last night, states that a prospector passed within three miles of that place last evening. The town is surrounded by camp fires, and signaling had been going on all day from surrounding mountains. The citizens are moved and are awaiting an attack. A special train from Camp Huachuca is on the way with troops.

Capt. Black, the ranger, arrived to-day and says he traced the Indians who killed McComas into the Sierra Madre mountains in Chihuahua. Two scouts got in sight of the camp in a deep canyon and counted 62 warriors. They observed a large amount of plunder and a great many animals. They reported this discovery to Capt. Black, but as the rangers numbered but 20 they feared to return and make an attack.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Condition of the Wrecked Vessels.

VICTORIA, April 17.—(Special.)—The steamer Alexander visited the wrecks yesterday afternoon. She went first to the Connaught, lumber laden with 80,000 feet. She lies nearest Albert head. The vessel has settled among the boulders and shingles to the depth of three feet. The tide ebbs and flows in her, and her mizzen mast and rudder are gone. The next nearest, to Esquimalt, rests the Southern Chief, very badly damaged. Her mizzen mast is gone and she has settled very much, and appears to be on a boulder close to shore. Her bottom is evidently badly broken up. Next in order comes the Gettysburg, whose mizzen mast and some yards were carried away. She has also settled deeply in the beach, and her bows are stove in. Her position is nearest shore, and at low tide her bows are high and dry. The Tiger's main mast and mizzen mast are gone, and if a degree of comparison is admissible where all are bad, she is the worst injured of any. She lies nearest Fisgard light, and close to the entrance of the lagoon.

The Duke of Argyle and the Tiber, British iron vessels, rode at anchor in the roads yesterday, having passed through the windy ordeal unscathed. Had the steamer Alexander, which was the only steamer that faced the storm of Saturday, arrived two hours earlier the Connaught would have been saved.

Surveyors left this morning for examination of all the wrecks.

The ship Tiber sailed for Iquique yesterday.

The steamship Empire passed down last evening with Wellington coal.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Rumored Indian Outbreak.

WALLA WALLA, April 18.—(Special.)—Two companies of cavalry, the commands of Captains McGregor and Backus, are prepared to mount at a moment's notice on account of rumored Indian troubles to the north. They think it is Moses' tribe. The soldiers are awaiting further orders. Col. Parnell is expected to leave with his command for Camp Spokane in the morning.

FIRES.

SEVERAL MEN DANGEROUSLY INJURED.

LEAVENWORTH, April 18.—(Special.)—John M. Abernethy's furniture factory burned yesterday afternoon; loss $40,000. Forty-five men were at work in the building at the time, and being in the midst of continuous noise it was necessary to run from one department to another and warn the men individually. While doing so George Snyder was fired, in the last room, to jump, with several others, from a second-story window. In falling Snyd[er] struck the sidewalk with such force as to cause his body to sink between the hip bones. His recovery is doubtful. His companions are all dangerously and it is thought fatally hurt. Their names are John Basil, W. Osborn, V. J. Westerman, B. Anders[on] and George Baughman. During the fire a hose cart ran down Mamie Frees, a little girl, and it is believed she will die.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Keeping Quiet.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(Special.)—Mrs. Langtry and Gebhardt have kept very quiet since their arrival here, [illegible] both about the Arlington they are [illegible] [illegible] by the public. They succeeded in avoiding special publicity or comment. To-day, however, being their last day in the city, they took advantage of the uncommonly fine weather and went out for an airing. They visited a couple of florists' establishments, at which Gebhardt purchased lavishly fine flowers for Langtry. They were not generally recognized, as the public is not familiar with Gebhardt's physiognomy. Mrs. Langtry in street costume does not look as much as she does in full dress or stage costume, and is not so remarkably beautiful as to challenge attention.

An Iowa Congressman Ignored.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—An order was issued yesterday to appoint Samuel Griggs to a $1000 clerkship in the post office department. Griggs was recommended by a member of congress from Iowa. To-day, when the gentleman applied to take the oath of office, he was asked if his residence was in Iowa, to which question he replied in the negative, adding that he lived in Virginia. The matter was referred to the postmaster general, who declined to make the appointment on the ground that the Virginia quota is filled, and he did not think it proper to credit residents of Virginia to the state of Iowa, notwithstanding the application was endorsed by an Iowa congressman.

Suit by the United States to Recover Interest.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The suit of the government against the Nashville and Chattanooga railroad to recover interest on past due coupons will be tried in the United States district court at Nashville next week. Before the war a large amount of Indian trust funds was invested in the bonds of this corporation, interest on which was guaranteed by the State of Tennessee. During the war the road was operated by the military authorities, and in 1866, when the line was returned by the government to the company, all matters in dispute between them, with the exception of this interest charge, were compromised by the payment of a lump sum to the company.

The amount of interest on bonds obtained by the government for the war period was $151,610, which, with arrearages of interest to date, at 6 per cent., would make the total due over $300,000. The suit was called for trial last fall, but on representations of the company's counsel, that efforts to make a compromise were in progress, Judge Key postponed the case till the spring term of court. The company offered to pay the government $145,000 in bonds, issued on an extension of the main line, but this proposition was rejected.

Samuel S. Cox.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(Special.)—Samuel S. Cox spends a good deal of time on literary work during vacation and finds the congressional library quite convenient for reference. He runs back and forth between here and New York. He is engaged in active correspondence with a number of members of the next house and is very confident of the strength he will be able to show in the contest next fall.

Revenue Stamps to be Redeemed.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The commissioner of internal revenue has decided to redeem stamps and to return to the owners with the word "redeemed" imprinted upon each check all checks and drafts bearing two cent internal revenue stamps which remain unused on July 1. The checks and drafts can then be used in the regular course of business.

The One Hundredth Call.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The amount of bonds redeemed under the circular in regard to the prepayment of bonds embraced in the one hundredth call is $4,519,550. This call was for $15,000,000, and the treasury circular authorized the prepayment of the entire amount on or before to-day. The call will mature May 1.

Just as an Ordinary Citizen.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Postmaster General Gresham to-day directed that in making postoffice appointments in Mississippi the recommendations of ex-Congressman Chalmers shall be given no greater weight than may be properly attached to them as recommendations of a private citizen.

Reports to the Board of Health.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—A report has been received by the national board of health that the cholera which prevailed to an alarming extent in China, Japan and India some time ago had disappeared. A report has also been received that smallpox is raging in Rio de Janeiro.

The Hill Affair.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The special committee to investigate the charges against Supervising Architect Hill met to-day and read over the charges. They notified Ex-Congressman Burch of Maine that they were ready to proceed as soon as he appeared, and adjourned till to-morrow.

From Date of Acceptance.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Second Comptroller Upton has rendered a decision on the question of the longevity of pay allowances in the army, which is, in effect, that these allowances are to be computed from date of acceptance of appointments and not from the date of appointments.

Application for Patent Denied.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The commissioner general of the land office to-day denied the application of Peter Sharbeck of California for a survey and patent to certain tracts of land within the city limits of San Francisco.

The Star Route Trial.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—John A. Walsh was on the stand in the star route trial yesterday.

All testimony for the prosecution and defense is now in, and arguments will probably begin to-morrow.

The Cash all Counted.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The count of the cash in the treasury will be finished to-morrow. The outlining committee will then examine the books and accounts.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

The Squabble that was Made Over a Tennessean's Claim against the Government.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—First Comptroller Lawrence of the treasury department to-day rendered a decision upon the following case: In 1871 L. J. Pullian, a citizen of Tennessee, employed a lawyer to prosecute a claim against the government. The claim was allowed, and in 1882 a treasury draft was made to Pullian and delivered to the lawyer. The latter claimed a fee of $1600. This claim he assigned to the German American National bank, which failed, and delivered Pullian's draft to the receiver of the bank. Pullian

DIED IN TENNESSEE

and an administrator was there appointed to administer his affairs, and an administrator was also appointed in the District of Columbia. The bank receiver applied to the first comptroller to instruct the treasurer to pay the draft on the indorsement of the district administrator, which was refused, because the supreme court had decided that in such a case payment might be made to the Tennessee administrator. The receiver then filed a creditor's bill in equity in the district against the district administrator and his attorney, and by a published notice attempted to make the Tennessee administrator a party defendant. A decree was made that the receiver should indorse and

COLLECT THE MONEY ON THE DRAFT,

Retain $1600, and pay the residue into court for the Tennessee administrator. The decree was presented to the first comptroller with a request that he instruct the treasurer to make payment. Judge Lawrence decides that legal title to the draft vested in the Tennessee administrator. This was decided by the supreme court. Payment cannot be made to recover unless title of the Tennessee administrator has been divested and vested in the receiver. Legal title of the Tennessee administrator has not been divested, because he could not be sued in the district, even if he was found here, and hence cannot be by notice published. It was also

DECIDED BY THE SUPREME COURT

That decree here could not take away the right of the Tennessee administrator, nor give it to the receiver, and possession of the draft here could not change the results. Judge Lawrence adds that this decision is required by public interests. Otherwise, it states, it will not deal with foreign creditors if credit[ors] may come from all parts of the United States and prevent them from receiving payment of money due them, so that all creditors may be paid alike, and not permit preference to such as come to Washington to bring suits. The treasurer will be informed that he can only lawfully pay the draft to the Tennessee administrator.

Bismarck will Hardly Tolerate It.

LONDON, April 18.—(Special.)—The Daily News, in an article says: In the event of the affair with Annam involving France in war with China it is understood that France will confine herself to blockading Chinese ports, as she is very well aware of the difficulties of an expedition to Pekin. The News adds that it will be a very serious matter to stop trade between China and America, England and Germany, and it will be worth while for France to consider whether Prince Bismarck will submit to such action.

FORCED TO ANSWER QUESTIONS.

LONDON, April 18.—The affidavit of a clerk in the postal telegraph service says that men whom he supposes to be Fenians accosted him, bandaged his eyes near the Broad street railway station and compelled him, under penalty of his life, to answer questions of the whereabouts of engines and the numbers and duties of persons employed in the central telegraph offices. He was afterward conveyed to Kingston and questioned by six men. The clerk does not know how the Fenians learned his name.

IN THE COMMONS.

LONDON, April 18.—In the commons to-day a motion by Pell, conservative, in favor of immediate reform in local taxation was only negatived by a vote of 217 to 225. An amendment was accepted by the government to postpone consideration of reform measures until the whole question of local government was examined. The closeness of the division on Pell's motion was loudly cheered by the tories.

FORTY TO ONE AGAINST THE WINNER.

LONDON, April 18.—In the city and suburban handicap race to-day betting against the winner at the start was 40 to 1. Roysterer won by a head, there being two lengths between the second and third horses. Time 2:12; distance about a mile and a quarter.

CANADA.

DETECTIVES SEARCH THE PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS.

OTTAWA, April 18.—Private detectives last night patrolled parliament grounds and searched parliament buildings. They are very reticent. Many anonymous letters reached Rideau hall last evening. It is reported that one detective has a clue which may lead to the identification of the author of at least one of the documents. The guard last night at the Government house was doubled.

TRIED TO SHOOT A CONSTABLE.

OTTAWA, April 18.—(Special.)—Shortly after midnight one of the special constables on duty at Rideau hall, the residence of the governor general, heard footsteps on his beat, and moving toward the spot was saluted by a pistol shot. He immediately blew his whistle and made a rush for the unknown, who fired three additional shots and escaped. A double guard was on duty at the time.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

OTTAWA, April 18.—Four shots were fired about midnight at a policeman on duty at Rideau Hall. A detachment of Toronto police were on duty, and they did not dare to leave, as it was thought the shots were intended as a decoy. After firing the individual took to the bush, and has not yet been captured. An extra guard was on duty at the time, and it was subsequently strengthened.

UNTRUE.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 18.—The chief of the Dominion police says there is nothing in the story about the guard over the government house being fired at this morning.

VILLAGE BURNED.

TORONTO, April 18.—A fire this morning destroyed the village of Oakville, on the Lake Shore, 21 miles from here. The fire brigade from here went over by special train, but got there too late to save the village. The loss will amount to $100,000 or more. The inhabitants are flocking to this city by hundreds for shelter, many on foot. The prohibition act was in force in the county where the village is situated, but when the fire reached a drug store two barrels of whisky were rolled out on the street and the members of the village fire brigade all got drunk and helped others, so the fire might have been controlled in its first stages. Insurance small.

IRELAND.

CURLEY WILL ALSO HANG.

DUBLIN, April 18.—Closing arguments were heard in the Curley trial this morning. Attorney General Porter, on behalf of the crown, declared the evidence in support of an alibi worthless and conflicting. Though Peter Hanlon professed to be in Curley's company four hours covering the time the assassination took place, and claimed during that time that he met various persons, defence produced but one of those persons. One witness swore that Curley was in a saloon at the same time, but Hanlon testified that Curley was in another place.

The judge then delivered his charge to the jury. He spoke strongly against the reliability of the evidence to prove an alibi. He pointed out that there could not be the slightest doubt that the murders were perpetrated at the instigation of secret societies, with which the prisoner was indisputably connected.

The charge was completed at half-past 2, and the jury retired immediately, and after a short absence re-entered the court room finding Curley guilty, as charged in the indictment.

The prisoner on being asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon him, said he had not expected any mercy from the court. It was very unfortunate that the Irish bench was never without a Keogh. He admitted that he was a member of the Invincibles, but declared that he was not in Phoenix park on the evening that the murders were committed. Curley said that he loved his country and could suffer for her. He declared the witnesses who had testified for the crown perjured themselves. He also said he was a Fenian.

After prisoner had finished his speech he was sentenced to be hanged on the 18th of May.

As the officers were taking the prisoner from the dock he cried out in a loud voice, "God save Ireland."

GERMANY.

POLITICS IN GERMANY.

BERLIN, April 18.—It is reported that the liberals have abandoned the intention of moving an address in reply to the emperor's message, the conservatives and ultramontanes being determined to discuss the budget for 1884 and 1885. The committee of the [illegible] party in the reichstag have issued a circular combating the assertion in the message of the emperor that the reichstag is dilatory and delaying business. It says the premature voting of the budget is objectionable, and biennial budgets always contain several bills that require much personal study. Further, the party desire to place their views on this point clearly on record in consequence of agitation by their opponents and the possibility of a dissolution of the reichstag.

FRANCE AND GERMANY.

BERLIN, April 18.—The Nord Deutsche Zeitung, answering comments of the French press on a previous article, says: If monarchy be restored in France it is a very likely that Germany would declare war forthwith. She would probably await an attack by France, which would soon be made under certain conditions. The restored monarchy would probably be induced to declare war on Germany without waiting long.

SALEM NOTES.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

SALEM, April 18.

Tim Dee came up this morning on a fishing trip.

Miss Ev. Earhart has gone to Portland for a brief visit.

Mrs. Geo. A. Peebles of this city is visiting friends in Independence.

Governor Moody will start for the Dalles to-morrow on a business trip.

Miss Carrie Schooling of Harrisburg is visiting Miss Ella Wright of this city.

Our pleasant weather was of but short duration, and it is raining again this morning.

Mrs. J. M. Irving, of Albany, is visiting in the family of Hon. A. F. Wheeler of this city.

The county court yesterday established a new voting precinct to be known as Garfield.

Mrs. Dr. Logan of The Dalles is visiting with the family of [illegible] and Mrs. Geo. Williams of this city.

Joseph L. Benton and Miss Josephine Ring called on Justice Coffey yesterday and were made one in short order.

The city council has granted the O. & C. R. R. permission to construct a switch along Ferry street out to the penitentiary.

The city council last evening appointed a special committee to confer with the company desirous of introducing the electric light system in this city.

Anniversary lodge No. 19, I. O. O. F., has elected W. N. Waldo and James Jolley as representatives to the grand lodge, which meets in your city next month.

Rev. F. R. Marvin's lecture last evening at the Congregational church was very liberally attended by the best class of our citizens and was both interesting and instructive in its character.

A new ordinance regulating the fire department of this city was introduced in the council last evening and read the first time. It makes some important changes, and should it become a law your readers will be advised of its main features.

The friends of Father Schwatka will be pleased to hear that he is getting along as nicely as could be expected, considering his age. He has the best of care in the home and at the hands of his children, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Jordan of this city.

The Pioneers' reunion will take place in this city June 15, 1883, thus enabling visitors to witness their exercises, and by coming one day earlier to attend the state firemen's tournament, which promises to be very interesting to persons interested in fire matters.

The Pioneers' association have appointed a committee to confer with the officials of the N. P. R. R. and, if possible, make arrangements for a grand excursion to the eastern states upon the completion of their line. If satisfactory terms could be agreed upon, the project would prove not only very pleasant but a success in every particular.

Through some inadvertence the board of directors of the Firemen's association of Oregon selected June 15 and 16 as the dates of the next annual meeting of the association in this city, which dates fall upon Friday and Saturday, thus necessitating the absence from home over Sunday of visiting firemen. The error has just been discovered, and steps have already been taken to change the time of meeting to Wednesday and Thursday, June 13 and 14, thus enabling participants to reach home without unnecessary delay.

The local committee appointed to make arrangements for our forthcoming state firemen's tournament held an enthusiastic meeting last evening, and organized by the election of Hon. John G. Wright president and Charles A. Gray secretary. A committee consisting of A. N. Gilbert, [illegible] Strang and Jasper Minto was appointed on finance, and George H. Burnett, [illegible] Hutton and C. A. Gray as a committee on [illegible] [illegible] The Salem boys have taken hold of this matter in the right spirit and there is every indication that the association and tournament will prove every way successful.

THE ROSEBURG COUNTRY.

A Settler Tells a Few Plain Facts, and Makes a Generous Offer.

ROOSTER ROCK, Oregon, April 15.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I frequently notice in your columns letters from various parts of the country, speaking in glowing terms of the respective locality of the writer. But as yet I have noticed none from this part of the country. By this part of the country I mean the country in Multnomah county lying between the Sandy and Columbia rivers. True there are no inducements here to those who wish to engage in wheat and stock growing on a large scale. But for those who are content with a small farm well tilled (and here let me say that the past has shown that this kind of farming is the most profitable to individuals and to nations), I do not think there is a better country in the world. We here have the best of water, healthy climate, plenty of timber, people from a prairie country think an excess, and a river and railroad to transport our produce to Portland, where there is always a market for anything a farmer has to sell. We also have a fertile soil. I helped one of my neighbors, E. J. Taylor, harvest his potatoes last year. They made quite 400 bushels to the acre, for which he received 50 cents per bushel. Mr. Taylor also has a cherry tree which he is willing to make affidavit netted him $10 per tree. Most all kinds of fruit do well here. Hay makes two to three tons per acre. I notice in a Portland paper that immigrants are complaining of accommodations and [illegible], and that the country has been misrepresented. Now why do not such immigrants get out into the country, rent or need be, or [illegible] of land, stay here one summer, raise a garden and see what the country is before condemning it. There is, to my knowledge, four empty houses in this vicinity with from two to fifteen acres of cleared land around them, that can be rented, or one can for from twenty-five to fifty dollars, about the cost of house rent and fuel in Portland for one month. Fuel would here be free, and in addition, they could raise their own garden. Now I am not a real estate man nor interested with any, but should any person wish to see this part of the world, if they can get up with our accommodations, they can come and stop over night with me. I will show and tell them all I know of the country and it will cost them nothing.

The best way to find me would be to take the steamer Calliope for Van's Landing. I am a new-comer myself, was as sick at first as any can be, but would not exchange this country for any now.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

ROSEBURG, April 17.

A new band has been organized here, mostly amateurs, with prospects of becoming a good brass band.

Extensive preparations are being made for the I. O. O. F. celebration here on the 26th. The weather permitting, it will be a grand affair.

The bank building is fast nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy in about two weeks. It is a very substantial building.

Robert Philips, who lives about six miles south of Roseburg, will ask the [illegible] railroad company for $6000 for a gravel bed [illegible] place for which they wish to pay only $530. [illegible] Campbell is attorney for plaintiff.

About 48 volunteers have signified their desire to establish a fire company, and Wednesday evening is fixed as the time for meeting, when officers will be elected and other preliminaries arranged preparatory to becoming a fire [illegible].

It is rumored that two [illegible] on Elk creek, about 30 miles above Canyonville, are missing, and that W. P. Thompson, a resident of that place, has "lit out" for parts unknown. It appears that Thompson is a half breed and had [illegible] certain persons in Jan[illegible] [illegible] about the father's doings, and the father becoming suspicious, sought a healthier climate. I do not vouch for the truth of this, but the rumor is somewhat reliable. Thompson claims to be an uncle of the famous James boys and a veteran of the Mexican war.

THURSDAY MORNING APRIL 19 1883

A WORD ABOUT THE STREETS

In a hundred localities the streets are blockaded by piles of building materials. Wherever a building is in progress of construction the sidewalk and half the street is occupied by brick lumber mortar boxes lime barrels, etc. Builders appear to regard the streets as their own, and show no regard whatever for the convenience or rights of the public. Pedestrians are often compelled to go far out of their way to avoid blockades and in many instances business houses are almost isolated by them for weeks together. It is proper enough to give builders certain privileges, but they are now allowed too many. The interior ground space of buildings under construction should be used for the storage of materials which should not be permitted to cumber the streets longer than the time necessary for unloading and transfer. The council, which recently with great propriety prohibited the long trucks from backing against the curb and half obstructing a street, ought to go farther and prescribe rules to keep the streets and sidewalks clear of building materials, and then it ought to be seen that the rules are enforced.

Store keepers, too, take unwarrantable liberties with the sidewalks. The north side of Yamhill street between First and Third has not been clear of great piles of merchandise for many months. The furniture factory on the corner of Yamhill and First frequently uses its sidewalk as a warehouse, workshop and place of sale. There is scarcely ever a time when a pedestrian can pass along without carefully picking his way through piles of furniture. And the sidewalk a block further back has been half occupied with a disgusting hodge-podge of fire-damaged groceries for several weeks. This should not be allowed.

And drivers, too, as a rule, proceed under the idea that pedestrians have no rights which they are bound to respect. The street crossings belong to the pedestrians. They have the right to walk fast or slowly at pleasure, and it is the business of drivers to keep out of their way, not their business to avoid teams. Ladies and children are frightened every day by a rude disregard of rights in this matter. The police could easily give drivers a few wholesome lessons in the rules governing street crossings, and they ought to do it. With mud in winter, dust in summer, and narrow walks everywhere, our streets do not afford many advantages at best to pedestrians.

EDUCATION AND LEADERSHIP.

It is no more true that educated men are always [illegible] leaders than that rich men are always the best citizens. In these directions misconceptions are common. The highest education does not of itself fit a man for the leadership of a people, any more than the greatest wealth [illegible] on a man judgment and wisdom. These observations are trite enough. It is singular that they should ever require repetition as now [illegible].

No one can advocate a leadership of wealth in politics, particularly in a country where the suffrage is general; but the opinions of wealthy men are much sought in politics as in other matters, as if such persons were really the wisest of counselors. It is a common fashion, however, to assume that reforms in the history of civilization are the work of educated men, rather than of the uneducated masses which is perhaps as great a mistake as the other. George William Curtis, in a recent address, presented this idea, and drew therefrom the conclusion that whatever reforms are effected in our political politics must be secured through the efforts of educated men, with the corollary that the influence of scholastic education is in favor of reforms.

In the first place it is to be observed that the men who have made most impression upon the course of human affairs have rarely been men remarkable for scholastic attainments. In the next place it has always been observed that the higher institutions of learning are apt to be very conservative, so much so that their influence usually goes to the support of old abuses. Any established thing naturally hates innovation. There is such a thing as the education of the public conscience; otherwise no [illegible] reform would be possible. But this education has little relation to what is known as "scholarship." It is a moral and civic growth. [illegible] effort may minister to it, but can never be an equivalent for it. Education is a [illegible] power, but it is not all in scholastic training.

PREVALENCE OF PNEUMONIA

To early settlers of Oregon pneumonia was an unknown ailment. More recently, when it began to appear, it was regarded by many almost as a new form of disease, and a wonder arose as to the cause of it. It may be well to remember that in the early times life in the open air was general. People did not "take cold." Pulmonary disorders were rare. Again, in those early times there were few people in the country to fall victims to any kind of disease, and one reason why the deaths were few was that there were few persons to die of anything. It is a fashion to say that the country is becoming unhealthy. It has more inhabitants than it once had.

But there is no doubt that modes of living now in vogue tend to increase the prevalence of certain classes of diseases, pneumonia among them. Increase of deaths from this latter cause may well be supposed to be due mainly to the habit of living in warmer houses and falling into a general way of life that enervates the body and makes it less able to endure sudden changes of temperature. It is not the natural changes of temperature that produce most harm, but the changes resulting from the habit of living too close, keeping too warm, and so receiving a shock from slightest exposure. In the eastern states the number of deaths from pneumonia is attracting no little attention among medical men. In the city of New York, where the population has increased only 50 per cent in 25 years, the deaths from pneumonia have increased nearly 200 per cent. Surely there is a reason for this which it ought not to be difficult to divine. It can hardly be doubted that the increase of mortality from this cause is due alike in Oregon and New York to changed modes of living.

FATAL CARELESSNESS

By a boiler explosion in a planing mill in the northern part of the city yesterday one man lost his life and two others were seriously injured. The sad accident was the sadder because it ought to have been and could easily have been avoided. The burst boiler was a worn-out shell which long ago should have been condemned and discarded. An examination after the accident revealed a fact which ought to have been known before: that the plates of the boiler were in places scarcely thicker than writing paper. The second time within a few weeks we see terrible results from carelessness. The boiler which burst in the Puget Sound steamboat Josephine with such distressing and fatal consequences was just such another frail affair as that which did the havoc yesterday. The law provides for the official examination of steamboat boilers but it is performed too often in a perfunctory manner, and too often by incompetent persons, but for stationary boilers there is no examination at all unless made by the owners themselves. And so, nine of every ten are used year in and year out without attention. The wonder is that explosions are not more frequent. These accidents should serve as warnings, and all owners of boilers should heed them. The cost of examination is light and the consequences of neglect may be terrible indeed.

The New York Sun suggests a sort of "reversible" policy for the democrats—"a tariff for revenue only, and the tariff the only source of revenue."

NEWSPAPERS

A question has arisen among the papers of Pittsburg as to which of them pays most money for telegraphic service. Only the Dispatch and Leader have made exhibits. The former for the year ended April 1st paid $12 [illegible] and the latter paid $8012 58. These are the two principal journals of the city. Pittsburg, including Allegheny, has a population of more than 250,000. And within a radius of 100 miles there are two and a half millions of people who in the Pittsburg papers supply with news. As a centre of industry and trade which has few equals Pittsburg furnishes a very large advertising business. The Dispatch carries far more advertisements than The Oregonian and at better rates than any paper here can possibly obtain. Now look at another side of it. It is a fact that The Oregonian, published in a city of 25,000, having a field of circulation which does not contain more than 250,000, all told, pays more for telegraphic service than the two principal papers of Pittsburg together. During the year 1882 this journal paid $21,680 for telegraphic service. So far this year it has paid as follows: For January $1648 50, for February $2101 52, for March $1990 40. Since April 1st it is taking more report than ever before, and the cost of its telegraphic service this year will much exceed that of last. In Oregon and Washington there are now two papers which receive telegraphic report. The Oregonian is paying more than the other four combined—of course because of its large amount of special dispatches which other papers do not receive.

Complaint is sometimes made that The Oregonian is not furnished to subscribers at a lower rate. People who come from the east say that they have been accustomed to getting as good a daily for $8 and as good a weekly for $1 50 a year. They do not stop to reflect that it costs twice as much to publish a paper here as there. Not telegraphic service alone, but paper printing material and printers' wages are much higher, and at the same time the population is so small, and business so limited that there can be no possible comparison on this head. While this journal has no reason to complain of its business, which is better now than at any former time, it has this to say, namely, that a good newspaper cannot possibly be furnished here at as low a rate as a journal of the corresponding class in the eastern States, and perhaps it has said enough on the subject to explain the reason why.

Notwithstanding an appearance of general prosperity in business circles, the failures for the first quarter of the year were in much greater proportion over those of 1882 and 1881 both as regards numbers and the amount involved. The total number of failures was 3139, an increase of sixty per cent over the same period in 1881 and forty-nine per cent over 1882. The total liabilities foot up $42,235 535, an increase of forty-two per cent over last year. The assets are reported at $23,763,826, an increase of fifty five per cent over 1882. The average liabilities for each failure amount to $13,243, the average assets $7542. The ratio of total assets to total liabilities is 56.2 per cent. The lowest average liabilities to each failure was $7017, in the Pacific states, the highest, $20,701, in the middle states. The mercantile agencies which have compiled the above statistics claim that the increased numbers of failures was a simple cleaning out of a lot of crippled firms which have been hanging by the eyelids for a long time.

Keifer has already declared himself for Senator Sherman for the Ohio governorship. His special strength, Mr. Keifer says, lies in the fact that "the Germans will support him. He would be strong in the very places where Ohio republicans are now weak, notably Cleveland and Cincinnati. If elected governor he would be in a good position for the presidential nomination. I know that if he would not decline in advance a nomination he can be nominated, and I think if nominated he can be elected. He is the strongest republican who can be put up to lead the fight." Mr Keifer thinks that if the republicans nominate Sherman the democrats will put Judge Hoadley up against him.

The defeat of Sprague in Rhode Island was a direct blow at Ben Butler who prompted Sprague's candidacy as an early feature in his scheme to secure the democratic presidential nomination. Butler's ambition is now no secret in the east, and his friends openly express his purpose, though the means by which he hopes to secure the prize are left to develop themselves. It is assumed, however, from his action in the Rhode Island case, that he will attempt to to make fusion fashionable, and to ride into the White House as its chief patron.

Captain Herman Schneider, the gentlemanly agent for a certain article of wet damnation which he is trying to "shove" in an illicit manner, seems to fancy himself a "village Hampden," and so with "dauntless breast" he takes his stand against "tyranny," and—to perpetuate a bull—for the sake of "freedom" goes to jail. By and by Schneider will find that he is executing justice upon himself.

Gov Butler's peculiar fast-day proclamation was treated in a variety of ways by the preachers of Massachusetts. Some refused to read the proclamation or any part of it; others read it and reasoned it with indignant wrath, and some, with real good sense, read it just as it was presented and gave it no other attention.

June is some time ahead yet but the "oldest inhabitant" is already in the field with a prediction that the flood this year will not be high enough to give much trouble. It is said but we are at a loss to know it has been learned that the snow fall in the mountains last winter was lighter than usual, hence as aforesaid.

O for a lodge in some vast wilderness. But President Arthur doesn't find it. The reporter keeps up with him and faithfully telegraphs every incident and even invents more and telegraphs them.

The reduction of postage from three to two cents will make a considerable difference in the compensation of those postmasters whose pay is regulated by the amount of business done.

The average Portlander will just begin to feel the cold when he learns that many of the strawberry fields hereabout were frozen during the February cold snap.

Pretty Fast Time

The Northwest (New York)

In Oregon they have a grade of wheat known as goose wheat. It is so called because the wheat grown in the state came from two or three grains taken from the craw of a wild goose. The wheat has a very hard coarse grain and makes a peculiar grade of flour. No wheat like it is known in this country. The people in Oregon have wondered from whence it came. The wonder is explained. From samples of foreign wheat at the Agricultural Department the exact duplicate of the goose wheat [illegible]. This wheat comes from a small province in Spain [illegible] where it [illegible] grown. [illegible] that it will goose [illegible] around the world in pretty fast time.

Tennessee Not for Free Trade

Nashville American Dem

The gentlemen who have [illegible] the Democratic party [illegible] on the free trade [illegible] will find that they have undertaken more than they can [illegible]. [illegible] manufacturing, you must [illegible] interests to the new [illegible]. Democrats all over the [illegible] country are looking to the protection of their property and the protection of their labor against pauper labor. These are personal interests and men will not surrender them. The timely action of our state senate in refusing to adopt the ill advised free trade resolution of the house was most fortunate. Tennessee will not be committed to free trade.

What They Do Not Say

From Life

He—Your father must be worth at least a million, and you would enable me to go through life in a style I could never hope for without you. I don't love you it is true but—one cannot expect everything. So let us marry. If your father fails I can crawl out of it somehow. She—Very well! You will never amount to anything but you are good enough as far as you go. I have trifled with so many men that most of them hate me and I may not get a better offer. If I do I can break the engagement.

BY

MISS HELEN F. SPAULDING

SUBJECT

"The Higher Education of Women."

This theme has been receiving marked attention of late owing to some hostile criticisms of Dr. Morgan Dix and others in New York. In both England and America the question is agitated, and in view of these facts the history of education for women and the present prospect become interesting. Miss Spaulding's experience as pupil of the great Horace Mann and as a teacher more than qualify her to present this theme well. Admission 25c.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Usual Routine Business Transacted Last Evening.

MANY STREETS IMPROVEMENTS AUTHORIZED.

A regular session of the city council was held last evening, Mayor Chapman presiding. All the councilmen were present but ... The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

PETITIONS AND COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were read by the clerk:

From ... asking for the improvement of West Park street between Salmon and Mill, referred to the committee on streets and public property.

From Franz Filtig and others asking that I street be improved between Ninth and Thirteenth streets, referred to the committee on streets and public property.

From his honor the mayor appointing L. C. Lyon as a regular policeman, referred to the committee on health and police.

From nearly one thousand taxpayers and citizens of Portland indorsing the action of the council and the mayor in passing and signing the high liquor license ordinance. Councilman Holman wanted to hear the names read and the clerk stumbled through a hundred or more, when by a motion from Chitten... [illegible] was relieved of the task. That all may know who ... the action ... the OREGONIAN publishes the communication with the accompanying signatures in another column.

James Steel, chairman of the citizens committee which was instrumental in obtaining signatures to the above, being present in the council chamber was invited by the mayor to address the assembly. Mr. Steel said that when the citizens committee prepared the above indorsement they supposed they had ten days to present the matter to the people and obtain signatures, and not until last Monday did they learn that the council met this week. Therefore the city had not been thoroughly canvassed to get the names of all who wished to support this matter. A great many people who had been approached by members of the committee had expressed their approval of the new ordinance but declined to sign their names to the paper thinking it might interfere with their business. Mr. Steel concluded his remarks as follows: "I have no doubt that a large majority of the citizens of Portland feel inclined to indorse the action of this council and wish to see the new law enforced. We came with these names to uphold you and support your action as much as possible in this matter."

The communication was received and placed on file by order of the council.

From G. O. Batey and others was received a petition asking that G street be extended. Upon motion of Councilman Hewett, the prayer of the petitioners was granted.

A remonstrance from the Oregonian railway company was read objecting to the proposed change of the grade of Jefferson street. This company state as the grounds of their remonstrance that they are the owners of a warehouse and dock at the foot of Jefferson street, and if the proposed new grade of that street was established they could no longer enter or use the lower story of said warehouse and dock. The remonstrance was referred to the committee on streets and public property.

SPECIAL REPORTS.

Under this order of business the following were read:

The reports of the city surveyor and the appointed viewers, upon the proposed extension of E street assessing the damages to be suffered and the benefits to be derived by property owners along the road, referred to the committee on streets and public property.

The reports of the city surveyor and the appointed viewers, upon the proposed extension of north Twenty first street, from E street to L street, assessing damages and benefits referred to the committee on streets and public property.

A report from the city surveyor concerning the proposed extension of north Seventh street, referred to the committee on streets and public property.

A report was read from the committee on judiciary to whom was referred the petition of Jacob Wilhelm asking for a license to sell beer at the rate required by the old ordinance. The committee reported that they had examined into the matter and could see no reason why he should obtain a license at a cheaper rate than other people. Therefore they advised that the petition be not granted.

Counselor Jones here arose in the lobby and stated that he appeared as counsel for Wilhelm, and wished to have the matter stand over.

Mayor Chapman inquired why anything that was to be said by Wilhelm or his attorney concerning the application had not been presented to the judiciary committee, when it was well known that the petition had been referred to them.

The attorney did not explain, but stated that he wanted a chance to prepare affidavits and have the matter set in its right light before the council.

Councilman Adams, chairman of the committee, said that Wilhelm had tendered no money when he made his application, and seemed willing at that time to take his chances with the others on having the license raised.

The attorney intimated that the city treasurer had made false statements and said that there was a slight difficulty existing between that official and Wilhelm which ought to be investigated. Wilhelm's word was as good as the treasurer's, anyway, in this matter, and it was very desirable to have the latter's sworn affidavit.

Upon motion of Councilman Hewett the report was referred back to the committee.

BILLS ORDERED PAID.

The following claims against the city were read and by a vote of the council ordered paid:

Todd & Biven	$ 4 50	Brigham & Weeks	$ 2 00
U C & B T Co	3 00	John Barnett	21 90
C H Chown	4 75	Walter Jones	40 00

T Aspland	34 05	A Hunter	4 00
S Wilcox	38 95	F Aspland	7 60
P Riley	137 28

There were two other claims in the hands of the clerk, which were not read, both being for materials furnished for use or repairs upon the city dredger. One was from John Honeyman & Co for $918 84 and the other from Thompson, Dalfart & Co., for $410 58. An ordinance was introduced later in the evening, making an appropriation out of the Willamette river fund to pay the amount of these two claims, but it went no further than the first reading.

NEW ORDINANCES.

The following new ordinances were introduced and read by the clerk:

Establishing the grade of west Salmon street.

Establishing the grade of Stout street.

Establishing the grade of Northrup street.

Providing for the improvement of Meade street, from south First to the macadam road; passed.

Providing for the improvement of Seventh street, from Market to Madison; read twice.

Providing for the improvement of I street, from N 8th to N 20th; passed.

Providing for the improvement of Fifth street, from Jackson to Lincoln; passed.

Declaring probable cost of making an assessment to pay for improvements on E street; passed.

Adopting the surveyor's report of the survey of the proposed extension of the unnamed streets lying west of blocks I, J, K, L, M and P in Caruthers addition to Caruthers addition, and providing therefor, passed.

Appropriating $1,329 42 out of the Willamette river fund to pay certain claims for material furnished for the city dredger. A brief word sparring passed between Hewett and Kellogg, all in a friendly way, each charging the other with a neglect in not investigating the claims and finding out whether it should be allowed. Finally the ordinance was referred to the dredger committee.

ENGROSSED ORDINANCES.

The following ordinances came up for the third reading and final passage:

Amending section 1 of ordinance No 144, in regard to salaries. Passed.

Providing for the purchase of a lot in Couch precinct for a branch police station. Laid on the table.

Authorizing D. B. Bond and others to operate the proposed White House suburban railway along certain streets in the city. Laid on the table.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were read and adopted:

Resolved, That rules 46, 47, 48 and 49 governing the police be and are hereby suspended.

After some discussion the resolution was amended by striking out rule 49, which provides for the size and height of members of the force, and then adopted.

Resolved, That notice be given that the common council of the city of Portland propose to improve Jefferson street from the east line of Front street to the west line of Seventh street, by macadamizing the roadway, full width, with stone block gutters on the corners, screened gravel to be used for the top course and constructing sidewalks, crosswalks and box gutters and doing the necessary grading therefor.

Resolved, That the city surveyor be and is hereby directed to survey a lateral extension of N. Third street five feet on each side of said street from the north line of Ash street to the north line of B street, mark the boundaries thereof and file his report in the manner provided by law.

Resolved, That notice be given that the common council of the city of Portland propose to improve Front street from Madison street to Clay street by macadamizing the roadway the full width with stone block gutters on the corners and constructing cross walks doing the necessary grading of stone and earth therefor.

Resolved, That the committee on streets and public property be and is hereby authorized to make an expenditure not exceeding $32 50 out of the appropriation for erecting lamps for a lamp at the intersection of North Seventeenth and ... streets.

The council then adjourned.

BOILER EXPLOSION.

ONE MAN KILLED AND TWO WOUNDED BY ESCAPED STEAM.

The Planing Mill of Wm. B. Cantrell, Corner North Ninth and K Streets, Badly Wrecked. Defective Boiler.

Shortly after ... o'clock yesterday afternoon just as the men had been started ... on work the boiler of the planing mill on the corner of North Ninth and K streets exploded with tremendous force demolishing the north half of the building, and injuring three men employed in the establishment. The great force was exerted downwards. ... about 30 feet turned end for end and fell through the roof 40 feet back from where it stood. The engineer W. F. Green had just tested the second gauge which showed plenty of water, and the steam gauge showed ... pounds, with ... pounds of the maximum limit. Then was a hissing sound underneath the boiler, a loud report which was heard for blocks around, a crash and all was confusion of beams falling and flying sticks and crashing timbers. The structure was a very light frame, in reality only an enclosed shed.

THE INJURED.

The engineer was buried about twenty feet in front of the boiler and covered with debris. He was soon extricated and carried to St. Vincent's hospital where Drs. Rex and Jones attended him. Both arms were ... from finger tips to shoulder. His face was bruised, there was a great gash in his hip which bled profusely, and probably some ribs in the left side were broken. It was evident that he had inhaled steam and that his injuries are fatal. So he was made comfortable with anodynes and died at ... He leaves three boys aged respectively ... 12 and 14 years. Their mother died a few years ago and the father, with the boys' help, has been keeping house near the mill.

His son Gus Green, aged 15, who was assisting his father at firing, was scalded about the lower part of the body and was thrown several feet, alighting on his side. He too was taken to the hospital.

Wm B Cantrell, lessee of the mill, was standing at the side of the engine when the explosion occurred. He was hurled about 20 feet and his left side was scalded from the shoulder down. He was taken to his home corner of Sixth and G streets. Though suffering intensely his injuries are not thought to be dangerous.

CAUSE OF THE ACCIDENT.

The boiler was an ordinary horizontal tubular one and had been in use a number of years. The firebox was surrounded by water, and steam could be generated rapidly. An examination after the accident showed the crown sheet intact, and that the boiler evidently blew out in the legs, spreading the bottom sheet wide open. It was made of ¼ iron but had burned out and was eaten away with scale to less than one-sixteenth of an inch. The wonder is that it had stood so long.

THE LOSS.

The building and machinery are owned by Donald Macleay, whose loss is between $2500 and $4 00. The boiler and engine were located at the side of the main building and the principal force having been expended downward only the side of the main building was torn out. Half of the roof fell but only the planer and a line of shafting were damaged. Escaping steam extinguished most of the fire in the furnace, and what little there was left was extinguished with buckets. It is likely that the mill will be repaired immediately. An alarm was turned in from box 9, corner of North Eighth and K streets, but the services of the department were not needed.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Mr. Larson, the turner, was at work at a lathe a few feet behind the boiler. It passed directly over him knocking off his hat and grazing his scalp, but he was not in the least injured. It happened that all the employes, except Larson and those injured, were either in the rear of the mill or on the side opposite the boiler. Had they been in the center or near the front they must have been caught by the falling roof.

THIS MORNING'S FIRE.

At 3 20 this morning fire broke out in Goddard's stables, corner Second and Morrison streets, and half destroyed the structure. The horses and vehicles were saved. M F Mulkey is owner of the property.

SWINDLED SAILORS.

They Receive Three Dollars and some Drugged Whisky for their Advance and are Shipped Without Necessary Clothing.

Judging from the following extract from a letter written by Captain George W Mundle, of the British bark Garnock off Fort Stevens April 11, to a gentleman in this city Turk has not entirely given up the business of shipping sailors. If the complaints of the sailors alluded to are true it is certain that they have been unfairly treated:

"I also wish to tell you about my crew. There are six of them in irons and five of them are good sailors from the Imperial. They allege that they were taken out of the Mariners' Home by Turk the day the ship signed and were only one night in his house, and they have no clothes nor oilskins for their money and they say all they got was $3. They now want to see the British consul. I want to get to sea and have put them in irons but if they persist I will have to take them to Astoria in irons. I consider the men have been most shamefully treated as I have seen the clothes they have and I also have got four of their discharges from the Imperial. The men say they got only $3 and some liquor which they allege was drugged. They only want to have some clothes, and are willing to go in the ship provided Turk is exposed to the authorities. They seem very good men and I feel sorry for them, for they have got absolutely nothing for their money. The captain of the Imperial says the men left his ship well clothed and with money."

The Garnock sailed Tuesday morning.

THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 19, 1883.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

A Brooklyn Murder.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The corner of Vanderbilt street and Park avenue, Brooklyn, was the scene of a horrible murder to-day. The murderer, Diedrich Matulien, has a grocery at the corner where the shooting occurred, and the victim, Diedrich Steffins, was a large beer dealer at 108 Veal street. Steffins for a long time had been paying attentions to Anna Doscher, Matulien's niece, who resided with him and his family over the store. There Steffins visited Miss Doscher, to whom he was engaged. Matulien was very suspicious of him, and believed he was unduly intimate with his wife. His wife, knowing his jealousy, got Miss Doscher to move to friends, and sent a request to Matulien to stay away. The murdered man was delivering goods opposite Matulien's store to-day and crossed the street in answer to a call from a friend. He had hardly reached the sidewalk when Matulien approached, holding in his hand a revolver. Without a word he fired five shots at Steffins, four balls entering the head and the fifth the left breast. Steffins dropped dead. Matulien was arrested.

Of Interest to Millers.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Argument was begun in the United States superior court to-day in a case which may prove to be of much interest and importance to all millers who make what is known as patent process flour. The case is that of Robert Dawnton, appellate, against Yeager milling company, which comes here upon appeal from the circuit court of the United States of the eastern district of Missouri. It is a suit brought for infringement of patent granted April 25, 1875, upon an improved process of manufacturing middlings by crushing grain between rollers. Among defenses set up by the Yeager milling company is that Dawton's patent is void for want of novelty of invention. If the decision of the court should turn upon this point rather than on the many other points of law involved it would settle the question of validity of the patent case and would be one of much importance, since most large mills of the country have substituted rolls for stones and are now making flour by this process.

Very Good Ideas.

ALBANY, April 17.—Mayor Edson made an argument to-day before a committee of the legislature in favor of his bill clothing the mayor with power to appoint deputies and commissioners, and depriving the board of aldermen of the right to confirm nominations. He said the present system was demoralizing and dangerous to police interests, because the agreement between the mayor and present confirming power must necessarily be based upon compromise and concession. This has been the case for the past 10 or 12 years, and during this period very few appointments were made, except such as were the result of political combination and bargains, such as demoralize the public service and deteriorate the character of public servants.

Fire at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 17.—A fire broke out in the Model flouring mill of this city, owned by [illegible] & Company, valued at $40,000, at 6 o'clock this evening, destroying that structure. The Dakota mill adjoining, valued at $[illegible], owned by H. B. Brown & Co., will go, and other more valuable mills in proximity may follow. The Model and Dakota mills each had a capacity of 400 barrels.

LATER.—The Dakota mill was saved. Total loss, [illegible], all in the Mutual company.

Republican Harmony in New York.

NEW YORK, April 18.—The republican [illegible] committee has adopted resolutions [illegible] all [illegible] one harmonious and [illegible] republican party in the [illegible]. The committee to receive suggestions and [illegible] includes John O'Brien, [illegible], Wm. Dowd, Lloyd Aspinwall, Chauncey M. Depew, [illegible] D. Wing, Wm. Reed, Chas. [illegible] and Hugh Hastings.

St. Louis Appointments.

ST. LOUIS, April 17.—Mayor Ewing sent his appointments for the next five years to the city council [illegible]. The most notable of these is that of [illegible] Filley, known in politics here as "Boss [illegible]" [illegible] for a place in both [illegible] and Arthur's cabinets, to be assessor and [illegible] of water rates. H. Clay Sexton was appointed chief of the fire department, and Gov. John [illegible] for health commissioner.

Religious Questions in Germany.

BERLIN, April 18.—At the last cabinet council the [illegible] removing restrictions [illegible] of cases and administration [illegible]. Whether the bill in the submitted [illegible] in a modified form is [illegible]. The idea of holding regular [illegible] the [illegible] because the [illegible] groups [illegible] to agree thereon.

Murderer Found.

[illegible], April 17.—Albert Taylor, a man arrested [illegible], has been fully identified as [illegible] brother, murdered [illegible] Cato [illegible] county, [illegible] officers are here with a requisition [illegible] governor of Tennessee to get the man, [illegible] held here under bonds of $[illegible] for assault [illegible].

[illegible] Texas Outlaws.

[illegible], April 17.—The Gazette's Fort Smith [illegible] at Wrage, Texas, United [illegible] of western Kansas [illegible] Lemmo, a Texas desperado, for [illegible] a writ for the murder of two men. [illegible] camp with a band of [illegible] and killed Layman and released the [illegible].

Sentence of a Mother.

[illegible], April 17.—Judge [illegible] sentenced [illegible] Barbara, who were both [illegible] mother of this city [illegible] to state's prison for life. [illegible] corresponding [illegible] committed the [illegible] to be placed in solitary confinement.

The Land League Convention.

[illegible], April 17.—The president of the American [illegible] Parnell: "The Philadelphia convention cannot be postponed. We regret [illegible] with us, but everything indicates [illegible] will be the largest and most [illegible] by Irish Americans."

Relic of George Washington.

[illegible], April 18.—The [illegible] by a vote [illegible] to pay $10,000 to Mrs. [illegible], widow of Dr. Lawrence A. [illegible] of Denison City, Texas, for the purchase of [illegible] relics of George Washington.

[illegible], April 18.—Charles II, Louis de Bourbon, [illegible] Duke of Parma, aged 84, is dead.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Northern Pacific land sales in Minnesota, [illegible] the [illegible] country during the month of March last past aggregated 32,[illegible] acres; in [illegible] territory, 20 [illegible] acres; in Montana, 480 [illegible] acres for a consideration of $203,[illegible] aggregated $41,442, of which $31,[illegible] for lots in the town of Livingston.

When members of the Missouri house were to vote upon a bill cutting down the power and perquisites of the penitentiary warden the other day, slips of paper were put on their desks bearing the simple [illegible], "He buys his supplies of republicans." The bill passed.

The sword worn by John Hampden during the civil war in England has just been sold at auction in London for 62 guineas. It is a long rapier with cross hilt and [illegible] and was in the possession of the Hampden family until 1851, when it was sold with other effects of John Hampden, a lineal descendant of its original owner.

The Charleston News and Courier finds that the [illegible] campaign is likely to have for an issue "tariff reform, pure and simple." To show that the republicans [illegible] while democrats favor [illegible], however, it refers to political [illegible] rather than to any present [illegible].

Louisiana engineers are having an animated [illegible]. All agree that the Atchafalaya [illegible] so that the whole volume [illegible] to go down the Mississippi and [illegible] the bar, but, while one party thinks Eads [illegible] that it be done now, the [illegible] the change so made suddenly the [illegible] with its increased volume would some [illegible] lower levees and scare considerably from the improvement plan; and so the [illegible].

The anxiety of the late congress to "do something" for rivers and harbors is touchingly illustrated by their neglect to appropriate the necessary funds to blow up the dangerous reefs at "Hell Gate," in the East river entrance to New York harbor. These works have been elaborately tunneled and prepared for destruction. The work has taken over [illegible] years, and has cost more than $1,000,000. They form the most dangerous obstruction to navigation in the most important harbor of the United States. The failure to provide an appropriation for finishing the work leaves General Newton, the officer in charge, no alternative but that of ceasing work and devoting his small remaining means to keeping the leakage pumped out, in the hope that a future congress will act upon the case before the fruit of so many years work is irretrievably ruined.

Our German friends, who have been so grievously exercised concerning the danger of disease from American pork and lard, will no doubt enjoy the [illegible] of remembering that even "the worm will turn." The Washington reports say that adulteration is universal in Germany, and is not confined to American products. Germans they adulterate into three grades. Their wines, liquors, beers, and even mineral waters are full of all sorts of deleterious falsifications. Especially are they strong in adulterating woolen goods by means of "shoddy." This consists of old garments ground up. Hence, a man who wears a German broadcloth runs the risk of acquiring small-pox, diphtheria, scarlet fever or some other disagreeable experience, a relic of the [illegible] whose old coat was ground up in order to impart to the cloth the necessary fullness. A political movement against German broadcloth is now in order.

POLICE COURT.

John English, Augustine Petri, E. Duffy, Owen Gorman, G. W. Zeigler, James Ross and J. C. Cunsian, were fined [illegible] for being drunk; and disorderly. The case of Mrs. Jones for the same offense was dismissed. Tim Hogan for assault and battery, was admitted to $25 bail, and will be tried to-morrow. Charles Davis paid $20 for bragging on the street. The case of citizen James Turk, charged with soliciting for a hotel without a license, came up, and the defendant was released upon his own recognizance.

—WRIGHTSVILLE, PA.—Rev. Elijah Wilson says: "Brown's Iron Bitters have permanently cured me of chills and fever."

FOR HIGH LICENSE.

Following is the list of names obtained to this memorial presented to the city council last night:

"We, the undersigned, citizens of Portland, do heartily endorse your action in passing ordinance No. 3744, and will co-operate with, and support you in maintaining and strictly enforcing its provisions."

They were secured in two days. In one week with a little exertion, as many more would be added as are published below:

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Western Oregon.

Roberts & Stratford have bought the gold mine claim on south beach, Yaquina Bay.

Yaquina Bay people complain of the absence of fresh beef, none having been received for weeks.

C. C. Caples, the owner of a tract adjoining Columbia City, offers free use, of three acres for garden purposes for one year and at the end of that time will sell 220x300 feet for $500 if occupied and cultivated.

Eastern Oregon.

W. J. Gabriel, charged with the murder of Clay Miller, is still in jail in Union county. The trial will take place the last week in May. Gabriel's father is supposed to live in Willamette valley, but the son does not know where. Any communication should be addressed to M. Baker, Esq., La Grande, Oregon.

East Oregonian: The capital stock of the Umatilla County agricultural association has been nearly all subscribed for, and the board of directors have already commenced work grading the race track. The grounds secured are within three-quarters of a mile of town on the east side of the river. The situation is a good one and the manner in which those interested have commenced work will insure success. It is the intention of the directors, if possible, to hold a fair on these new grounds sometime next fall.

Washington Territory.

Seven hundred and seventy-four acres in the territory have been converted into hop fields.

Emil Lindstrom, a Swede, working in the Tacoma mills, had one foot cut off by the trimming saw Tuesday.

The school on the Puyallup Indian reservation is said to be in a very flourishing condition and to have a large number of pupils.

The O. R. & N. Co., have built a wharf boat at which freight for Olympia is discharged to be towed to the town when tide will allow.

A Centerville correspondent says the Golden Enterprise tunnel is the first bed-rock tunnel run in Washington for deep gravel diggings. The south tunnel leading from the main tunnel, is in a distance of 80 feet into loose gravel containing fine gold. Miners are desirous of reaching what is known as rim rock, which is thought to contain good pickings. Work has been delayed during the winter, but will next week begin in earnest. Nearly 1300 feet of tunneling has already been done.

SEEKING THE LIGHT.

A rose tree climbed by the window side,
Coronaled over with green;
And ambient kisses of sunlit May,
And crystal dews at the close of day,
Wooed the pearly buds that, folded, hide
The crown of the summer's queen.

Under the floor so damp and cold,
Under the floor in the dearth and mold,
A straggling root ran that fell the life
Of the outside world with beauty rife;
And it pushed a tendril up to the
If any chance of growth would be.
Not a glint was there of sun or dew,
Not a gleam of light the darkness through,
[illegible]
It must grow through them, if grow it might.

[illegible] bloomed by the window sill
[illegible] sweet and fair—
[illegible] crown of a royal June—
[illegible] of a summer's golden noon—
[illegible] distilling wealth
Ambrosia on the air.

Up through the steps of stone so cold—
Up through the steps a tale was told
Of life that would live because it must,
Of life and growth in darkness and dust;
For a green leaf smiled at the blossoms there
Showering their glory everywhere;
And more to me than the roses' gold
Was the wealth of praise the leaf could hold.
Ah, leaf so brave, how many there be,
In human life, seeking life like thee!

BABY'S PETITION.

Life is restless, days are fleeting,
Children bloom, but die in blooming;
Warning take, all friends and mothers,
Watch the precious girls and brothers;
Read the home life of Victoria,
Children nine, all had Castoria;
No sleepless nights, by baby squalling,
Like larks they rise in early morning.

LONDON, April 18.—Silver bullion English standard, 9[illegible] fine, per fine ounce 50⅞.

New York Freights and Markets.

NEW YORK, April 18.—[Special.]—The freight market is a little more active after the storm of the past few days, still there is not much doing outside of a few items of certain classes that perhaps always find a market by this route. Offerings are still mainly of heavy goods, for which low rates are demanded. The McGilvery is the loading vessel, and will finish to-morrow. Rates are steady at last quotations. Tonnage supply increases and owners' views are less firm. The new iron ship Wm H Starbuck, lately launched at Chester, will load here with a cargo of rails.

There is nothing new regarding the cutting of rates in the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western and against the Sunset route. The latter made a rate that has not been met by the former, and the matter remains at a standstill.

There is no improvement in business, and the shipment movement is still backward, like the season, and in some of the earlier departments, as dry goods, it shows a decrease, but is compensated for by the increase in other and larger branches, and as a whole the distribution is larger than it has been during the earlier stages of the season. There is still a marked absence of speculation, save in a few departments, where "futures" hold steady, and prices, as a rule, are steady. The exceptions are where stocks have accumulated in the hands of manufacturers, importers and dealers, who have become anxious to be relieved of the burden they are carrying, and are willing to realize without much profit.

Near events in California merchandise are very slow. Wool is dull; sales 30 bales. Hides are a shade lower, and dull. Quicksilver is lower. Borax is dull and lower. Hops are firm at 85. Salmon is dull; Columbia river, $1 65; Sacramento, $1 50 for delivery on a shade higher for a lot.

Foreign Grain Trade.

NEW YORK, April 18.—[Special.]—Post: Foreign grain markets to-day were rather better. At Liverpool red winter and spring wheat was one penny per cental higher and corn stronger and the penny dearer, and at market wheat and corn were a turn dearer. Wheat and corn on passage were firmer, but quotations were unchanged. The amount of wheat on passage to the continent is 340,000 quarters, and of corn 130,000 quarters which indicates a decrease of 30,000 quarters of wheat, while the quantity of corn remains unchanged. Imports into the United Kingdom during the past week amounted to 340,000 quarters of wheat, 230,000 quarters of corn and 21,000 barrels of flour against 430,000 quarters of wheat, 250,000 quarters of corn, and 240,000 barrels of flour the previous week. The London Economist states that some difference of opinion exists as to what the yield of wheat might possibly be, should the weather prove fairly favorable between this and harvest, but that no considerable improvement has taken place with prospect of the production is unquestionable. On the opening of northern continental ports a large amount of wheat, it is considered, will be forthcoming, so American shipments, which are kept within moderate limits, will not be so much wanted.
